

Formatted Text Control (FTC) Software

All rights in the Formatted Text Control (FTC) were transferred from BKeeney Software Inc. to Dr Brian R Gaines in January 2021. It is now freely available as open source software under a MIT-style license, essentially 'use as you like at your own risk.'

There is currently no open source support community for FTC, but is hoped that one will evolve over time.

License Terms for Formatted Text Control (FTC) Software
